Aunt Chatty's Mothers' Club Conducted by Mrs. Charity Brush

CHILDREN'S DISEASES-WHOOPING COUGH.

HIS is a real Mothers' Club, for the benefit of mothers everywhere who are struggling with questions of discipline, training, educa tion, clothing, for the children. Write to Aunt Chatty of problems which are vexing you, and she will advise and help you to a solution of Write to her, too, of your own discoveries, of methods you have found successful in smoothing the rough paths of life for the tender, childish feet, that through the Mothers' Club your experience may be of benefit to other mothers who are still tangled in the web of perplexity you have so happily unraveled.

Co-operation is the secret of success in any business; so why not in the business of motherhood, that highest and holiest calling which always has been and always will be woman's crown of glory, no matter what other avenues of usefulness may be opened to her? Address Mrs. Charity Brush, care of this paper.

I have been reminded several times him to bed. Give him a teaspoonful o lately of my promise to give an occa-castor oil, but no other medicine unti-sional talk on the subject of the diseases sional talk on the subject of the diseases of children, their symptoms and the best method of taking care of the little patient when he is ill. From two or three mothers quite lately have come letters saying there is an epidemic of whooping cough in their neighborhoods and asking me how the mother can be sure her child has this disease or is sufficiency only from a common cold. fering only from a common cold.

If you have reason to suspect your the people I told you of at the begin

Of all the children's diseas, I have an is causing you pain you should have especial dread of whooping cough. Its a physician examine it. It may have consequences may be more disastrous to be removed. consequences may be more disastrous than any of the other ills that children are subject to, not even excepting scarlet fever. My own mother suffered all the life from a terrible bronchial cough the aftermath of a neglected attack of whooping cough when she was but four years old. Another relative was made a nervous wreck by whooping cough. She took the disease from older children when the was six months old and sithough is learning many things about life. she was six months old and although is learning many things about life she grew to womanhood, in mind she and language and nature as it is, and was never more than a child of six or attempts to force her prematurely may seven. She had a nervous shaking of the hands, besides, that made it difficult to dress herself or do any kind of sewing or fancy work. But the worst case of all was that of two little girls I used almost recovered when they were allowed to play in a cold room. Of course they had a relapse, and they almost raised. As a rule, I think we are spared many dangers that might overtake us. Among all the children that have whooping cough, only comparatively few cough, only comparatively few are af-flicted in an undue degree. But these that I have cited are actual cases among my own relatives and acquaintances, an I tell you about them to impress you with the need of avoiding the danger of infection, if possible, as well as to impress you with the very great need of the press you with the very great need of the How shall you be certain your child

How shall you be certain your child has whooping cough, you ask. For the first week or ten days it is difficult to distinguish whooping cough from the bronchial cough that comes from a slight cold. But as the attack progresses, the cough becomes more severe, and it is generally hardest at night. The little patient gets very red in the face and in severe cases has to hold to a chair or the nurse's hands to keep from falling. One of my own children had a very severe attack of it and when she felt the paroxsms coming on used to run to meas fast as her little feet could carry her and cry, "Hold me, mamma, hold baby, please!"
